

IRISH DIVISION ON FRENCH FRONT WITH THE ARMY OF GREAT BRITAIN

(By Associated Press.)
BRITISH HEADQUARTERS, France, May 27.—There is a town at the British front which is the center of an Irish world. It is the headquarters town of the 16th or Irish division. Irish voices are heard from the doorways of the houses. Flower pots of shamrock are on the mess tables of officers who gather for their meals in the modest sitting room of the local grocer or butcher where they are "billeted."

In his office a general who is Irish to the finger tips talks about his troops who were fighting hard against the Germans during the Dublin riots. If he is asked if there are any Sinn Feiners among them he will refer the inquirer to the men themselves. They are enlisted in the Irish new army battalions in face of the influence which produced Sinn Feinism. "This gave them a distinction of character to start with their officers say."

Sturdy middle-aged men with stripes of color won in campaigns in India and South Africa while serving with regular Irish regiments, some still sergeants, some promoted to commissions have been drill masters of vigorous youth from Mayo or Kilkenny or Clare or Cork. But most of the officers in common with most of the men had never been in uniform when the war began.

"We wanted to draft the Irishmen who were in English and Scotch battalions into ours so we could have all the Irish at the front under one command," said the general, "but we could not make the arrangement. The other commanders would not part with their Irishmen. British battalions like to have a sprinkling of Irish among their numbers. My men have had every test of trench fighting, gas and shells and sniping—and they've disproved any idea that the Irish were not as good at sticking as in a charge. They've stuck like veterans. Native Irish good humor relieves the grim monotony of the trenches."

"As for discipline—there's the record of court-martial,"—the general indicated some blank spaces opposite the names of battalions on the wall—"everybody prophesied that we would have heavy drinking on St. Patrick's day because a lot of people have the idea that the Irish have a weakness for drink. I appealed to the men to be on their good behavior with the result that we did not have a single case of intoxication."

missioners of Esmeralda county to borrow $10,000 for the purpose of paying that amount of school bonds which become due on July 1, 1916. The commissioners represented to the board of revenue that on account of taxes now due and being paid under protest, that the money to pay these bonds with was not available and would not be until taxes due in December of this year were paid in.—Carson Appeal.

DYESTUFFS FROM NATIVE FORESTS

FRANCE PREPARING TO PRODUCE
VEGETABLE DYES TO DRIVE
OUT ANILINES

(By Associated Press.)
PARIS, May 27.—An inventory of forest trees from which may be derived extracts suitable for the manufacture of dyes has just been made by the Agricultural department. The tree that abounds the most in France in coloring properties is the black oak, but there are some yellow oaks whose extract is considered even more valuable than that of the black oak. France is also quite rich in the white walnut which gives different shades of brown color and the extract of which, it is recalled, was used to dye the uniforms of the soldiers from Tennessee and Kentucky in the War of Secession. It is thought that by a systematic effort a wealth of coloring material may be derived from the French forests though they in no wise compare with the American forests in vegetable coloring matter.

ELKO MEN'S PRELIMINARY CONTINUED UNTIL JUNE 1

In the justice court Wednesday morning, Jacob Clark, justice of Tuscara township, presiding, a motion was made by Attorney C. A. Cantwell for a continuance of the preliminary examination of J. T. Taber, H. U. Castle, and H. A. McMurtrey until Thursday morning, June 1, at ten o'clock, says the Elko Independent. The continuance was consented to by the defendants and their attorneys, and the motion was granted. The defendants will fight the case at the preliminary examination, and they believe that such a showing will be made that they will not be held for the grand jury.
